"Albion Engineering Company is a provider of handheld dispensing tools, which may initially seem like a stretch for membership in ASC. However, we are likely among the longest-standing members of the organization. If your primary focus is on securing short-term leads and immediate sales opportunities, ASC might not be the right fit. However, if your goal is to develop a top-tier R&D team, strengthen your management capabilities, and grow your presence in the adhesives and sealants industry, ASC is the place to be. It's a hub for networking, knowledge sharing, and forward-thinking in an ever-evolving sector."

"Belonging to the ASC has been tremendously impactful to our business as it provides WACKER with a vast array of information regarding future trends and potential impacts to our industry. This membership not only provides our company with resources but also affords us a forum for member feedback about what is actually possible regarding our products when it comes to forthcoming changes. The advocacy efforts made by ASC have saved us time and resources, allowing me to focus on what I love most about my job, our customers."

"We have continued to experience the value ASC membership brings to our product portfolio related to adhesive and sealant applications. It is an outstanding forum for networking with customers and colleagues, provides educational resources, and is an excellent way of staying up to date on industry trends. Additionally, the advocacy efforts on behalf of the industry provide an invaluable informed voice to enlighten policymakers."

"Teckrez is a long-standing supporter of ASC. We are pleased with our decision to join ASC several years ago.

The ASC is the single-best forum for networking and advocacy in support of the North American adhesives industry. We gain great value from the annual meeting through meetings with key partners and sponsoring a booth. Teckrez employees are heavily involved in ASC including a sitting board member. We plan to continue our support of ASC and encourage all suppliers to and producers of adhesives to join ASC."

"The Adhesive and Sealant Council has been a bright spot in my professional career. The most impactful aspects have been the opportunity to hear about the latest developments and trends from industry experts and the face-to-face networking with suppliers, customers, and peers. Additionally memorable and impactful have been career growth opportunities to give presentations on the work of my team and to serve as part of the Technical Committee. ASC has served as the meeting spot for our industry."

"I have found that the Adhesives and Sealants Council has been very beneficial to me in my role as the National Technical Manager for Ravago Chemical Distribution.

I have attended a number of the "mini courses" and I have found them to be valuable in that they have helped me to refresh my memory and experiences when I was formulating adhesives and sealants. These course have also assisted me in providing training and education to the members of our sales team who are looking to learn more about adhesives and sealants so that they are more comfortable discussing projects and chemistries with their customers and prospects."

"At H.B. Fuller, we highly value the opportunity to be a part of ASC and contribute to shaping the future of our industry. The ASC provides a collaborative platform for sharing insights, addressing market needs, and discussing the challenges facing the adhesives sector. These conversations drive actionable initiatives that propel the industry forward. Whether it's through offering technical training to develop new talent or fostering synergies to advocate for improved industry standards, ASC serves as a vital forum for collective progress that benefits us all."

"In addition to providing valuable education and networking opportunities, ASC stands out in two ways that were unexpected when we joined. First, ASC has built a culture where everyone is treated as equals. This is extremely valuable to us as a small manufacturing company where we (1) contributed to a regulatory update and (2) presented a concept that ASC helped advance among the community. Second, ASC develops curated solutions to our questions and issues. For example, ASC went out of the way to provide advice and contacts to an issue we were having. All in all, being part of ASC makes us feel like we are part of a supportive and influential community of people and companies genuinely looking out for our collective success."

"DAP has been a long-time member of ASC, and for good reason. ASC stands as the premier forum for staying informed on technological advancements and for shaping the industry's future direction. The leadership that ASC provides in advocacy and sustainability benefits the entire industry, helping to shape regulations that impact all of us. ASC meetings offer unmatched networking opportunities, bringing together professionals from across the industry. Additionally, ASC provides unparalleled educational and professional development programs which we find invaluable for developing our new talent. Any company that expects to be an innovator in our industry needs to be a member of ASC."

"As a new member, we are off to a strong start engaging in the wide range of opportunities offered by ASC. At the recent ASC Executive Leadership Conference, I really enjoyed connecting with industry colleagues and gained some valuable insights into market trends. IPS Adhesives has also worked with ASC to showcase our new product innovations and company news, and our company will be featured in a New Member Spotlight interview soon. There's even more to explore in education and insights for our employees, and we are looking forward to a great 2025 together with ASC!"
